

Lincoln

This white marble chimneypiece of strong architectural form is after a design by Sir John Soane (1753-1837), who had adapted an earlier design of Inigo Jones. The rectangular moulded shelf above a plain heavily and deeply moulded frieze with a geometric design continuing down the jambs. The original antique chimney was at the Bank of England.

Dimensions

External height 54½in (138.6cm) width 71⅞in (182.3cm)

Internal height 42in (106.7cm) width 42in (106.7cm)

Depth 7¼in (18.1cm)